

Celebrate Week of the Young Child!

April 24-28, 2017

Your organization's participation in Week of the Young Child is critical in helping individuals throughout Alabama recognize the needs of young children, and helping thank the caregivers and other adults involved in building better futures for all children. Federal, state, and local government, communities, parents and businesses all have a role in building better futures for all children and Week of the Young Child is the time to help recognize this.

Music Monday: April 24, 2017

Sing, dance, celebrate, and learn

Through music, children develop math, language, and literacy skills all while having fun and being active!

Tasty Tuesday: April 25, 2017

Healthy eating and fitness at home and school

Cooking together connects math with literacy skills, science, and more! With the rise in childhood obesity, you can encourage healthy nutrition and fitness habits at home and in the classroom.

Work Together Wednesday: April 26, 2017

Work together, build together, learn together

When children build together they explore math and science concepts and develop their social and early literacy skills. Children can use any building material from forming a fort of branches outside to building a city out of blocks in the classroom.

Artsy Thursday: April 27, 2017

Think, problem solve, create

Children develop creativity, social skills, and fine motor skills with open-ended art projects where they can make choices, use their imaginations, and create with their hands. Use any material (crayons, paint, or clay) to celebrate the joy and learning children experience when engaged in creative art making.

Family Friday: April 28, 2017

Sharing family stories

Engaging and celebrating families is at the heart of supporting our youngest learners. Family members are young children's first and most important teachers!
